CEO's
MESSAGE

“...22 years of service to this industry.”

What is the higher purpose of cherytech? Higher than profitability? Higher than just market share? We at cherytech believe every citizen or every human being has the right to life safety and a safe environment.

Whenever we enter into a agreement for a safety and security installation contract, I put my children and my close relatives in the building as if they are present there in the event of a fire and I wouldn't want any of them to lose their life because of a clumsy fire installation. All life is precious and I am duty bound to engineer and install it with maxium realiability and dependability. No compromise.

Our purpose, endeavour and mission is to provide the right, world-class solutions to the safety and security concerns for the discerning. We seek to offer the appropriate technical solutions for every need without compromising the essential aspects of safety. The key to the success of our business is the functionality of the systems 24/7 and the reliability of the equipment's provided.

At cherytech we also believe that 'trust' is the factor which would sustain us over the long term and is proved today with our 22 years of service to this industry. We also 'understand Stake Holders are the life line for any business and we commit ourselves for the overall welfare and growth of our staff, suppliers, vendors and share holders.

We have grown year after year to be the natural leader of leaders in the business and become the most respectable company in the segment.

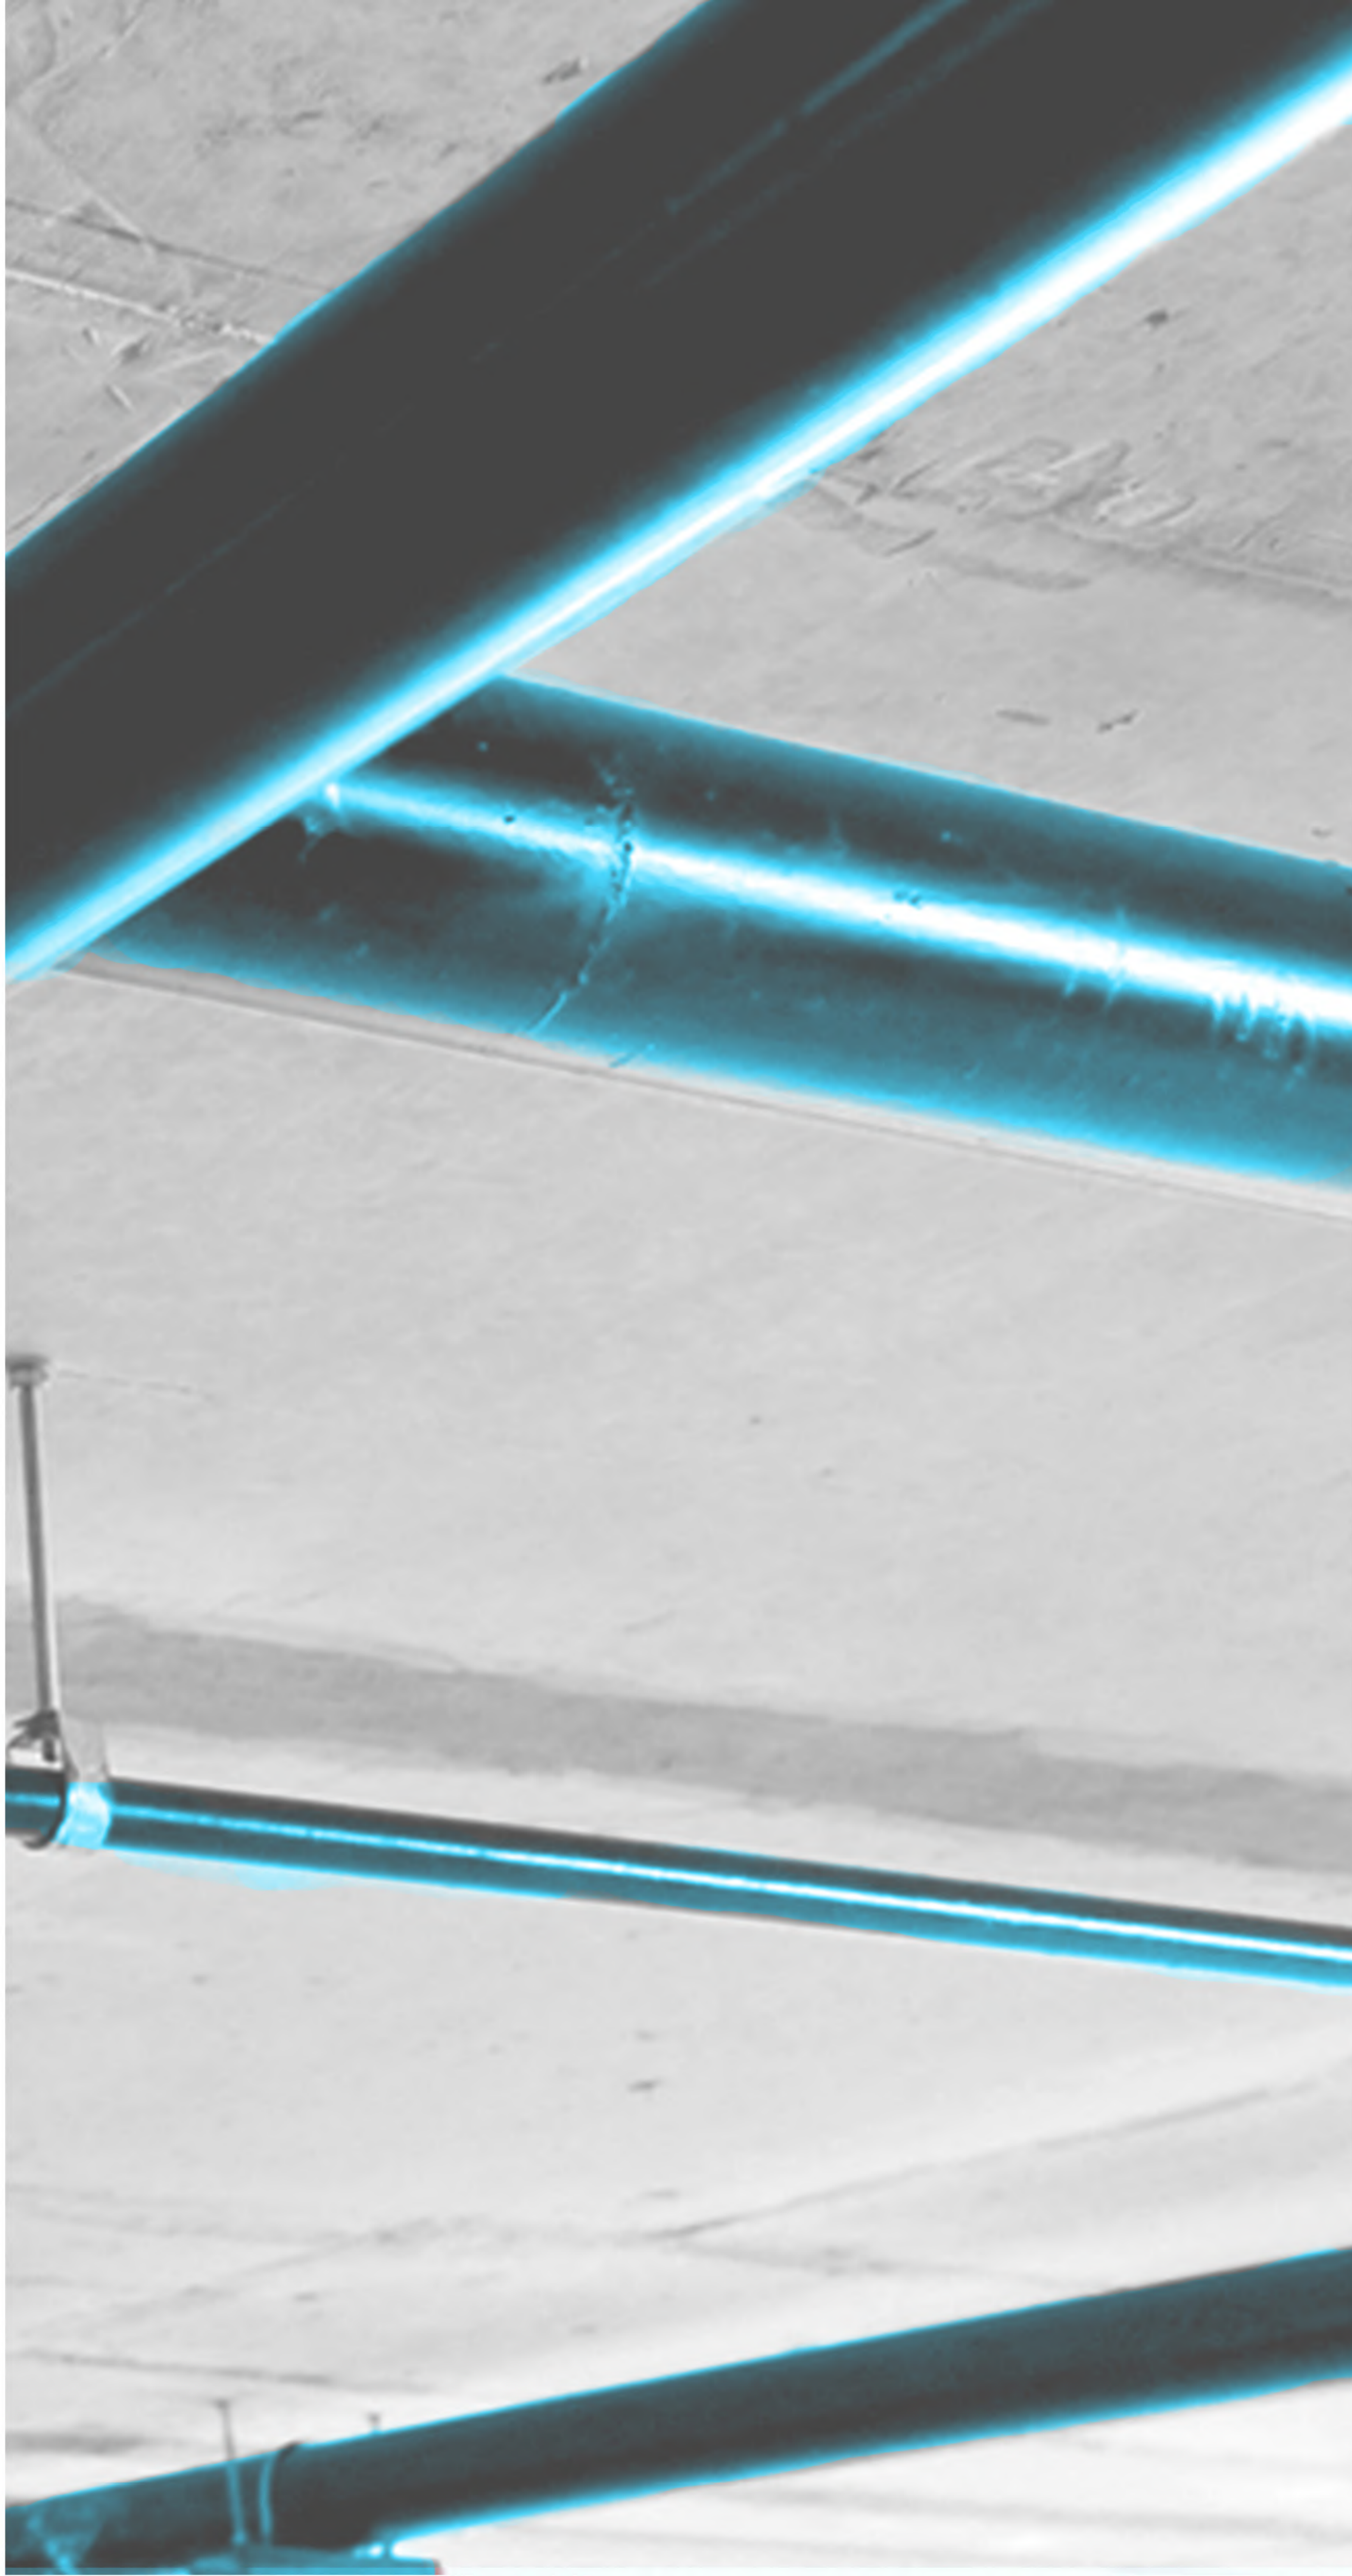

We solicit your patronage which is the key for our success.

I personally attach my signature to all cherytech's projects as symbol of true commitment.

ABOUT CHERYTECH

“excellence is doing ordinary things extraordinarily well”
John W Gardner

Cherytech India Pvt Ltd is a fire protection, safety and security systems engineered solutions provider in the total building sector catering to all segments of the market. Our services range from survey, design, estimation, costing, procurement, engineering, operation and service of fire, safety and security systems.

Cherytech is a company promoted by C.K. Kuriakose and other experienced entrepreneurs. Incorporated in the year 1995, the company started effective operations in 1999. We have grown from humble beginnings to a qualitatively superior, responsible, responsive fire protection and security systems company of repute today.

Under the management and professional experience of Mr C.K. Kuriakose combined with the expertise of Mr A.K. Nandi, the former Senior Vice President of Mather & Platt fire protection Ltd, the company saw tremendous growth and by its 10 th year of operations in 2009 we grew into 30 Crore company.

VISION

Cherytech is the first choice partner in safeguarding and securing what matters most by delivering top notch design and technology solutions , high performance execution and a trusted lifetime relationship.

MISSION

 Our mission is to provide Protection of life and property with top notch engineering solution in fire safety & security needs of all segments of society – industrial, commercial, residential, infrastructure, pharma, energy and environment. We would differentiate our services in terms of quality, time schedule, responsiveness of quality design by following National and International codes and standards, established work practices documented by method statements and stage wise checks. We also look forward to being the company that contributes significantly to India's growing work force by adding more job opportunities as our business grows.

OUR STORY

Cherytech understands the importance of an effective fire protection system and the vital role it plays to keep Life and Property Safe. When we receive an enquiry from our clients, we begin by conducting a detailed fire risk assessment so that we can determine the source and potential damage a fire can cause. On doing so, we are able to recommend the best possible systems for your prestigious facility .

We also understand that business continuity is as important as the premise itself and our goal is to provide technologically superior and scientifically advanced systems that do not interfere in the day to day functioning of a business therefore aiding the growth of your venture.
